

LEND | Leadership Education in Neurodevelopmental Disabilities

UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA
Driven to Discover<sup>SM</sup>

Minnesota LEND Forum

Thursday, November 16, 2017

The 'F-Words' in Childhood Disability: Are We Ready to Shift Gears?

Peter Rosenbaum, M.D., FRCP(C) | McMaster University, Ontario, Canada

In the 21st century, people are embracing new ideas and new paradigms for the healthcare and disability fields. Guiding us are the 6 'F-Words' from the World Health Organization's (WHO) International Classification of Functioning Disability and Health (ICF) framework: Function, Family, Fitness, Fun, Friends, and Future. The 'F-Words' have been enthusiastically embraced by parents and families—and colleagues—around the world.

Dr. Peter Rosenbaum will present about the ICF Framework and challenge everyone to think—and speak together about—"Yes but..." and "Now what..." It is hoped that a lively interactive discussion will help all of us see new possibilities to build these ideas into everyday practice and research (and remember, one of the F-Words is 'Fun!').

F-Words Hub can be found at: www.canchild.ca

Date Thursday, November 16, 9:00 a.m. - 11:30 a.m.

Where Weisman Art Museum, University of Minnesota campus, Minneapolis, MN

Registration Space is limited. Registration is required and can be completed at:
lend.umn.edu/misc/fwordsforum.asp

This event is sponsored by the University of Minnesota Leadership Education in Neurodevelopmental and Related Disabilities (MNLEND) Program, with support from a grant from the Bureau of Maternal and Child Health, Grant 5 T73MC12835-09-00, and from the University of Minnesota's Institute on Community Integration at The College of Education and Human Development, UMN Medical School, and the College of Liberal Arts. MNLEND is an interdisciplinary leadership training program spanning 18 disciplines across the University of Minnesota. More information about MNLEND can be found at <http://lend.umn.edu>. For more information contact: dosch018@umn.edu